

To make your very own copy of Death Charades print the 100 cards in this file, and if you are feeling particularly devilish, fill in the 4 blanks with ways of your own devising. Gather some friends, follow the directions on the How to Play card and let the charades begin!

Death Charades

A GAME where DEATH is the LIFE of the PARTY

STEP 1:

Print these pages on letter sized paper stock (8,5 in x 11 in). The thicker and more durable the paper the better! This is the double sided version. We recommend taking it to a Kinkos and letting them do the rest!

STEP 2:

Cut the cards out on all of the light grey lines as indicated.

HOW TO PLAY

Players split into two or more teams and alternate who is acting in each round. Each round, one player has 45 seconds to draw cards and act out various ways to die while their team guesses. No words are allowed while acting, but noises are encouraged. Some deaths are more fun than others, and those are worth more points, as indicated by the black spot icons on the cards. You may skip one card per round, and there are other gameplay cards mixed into the deck that are self-explanatory. The team with the most points at the end of the game wins.

If you don't like a card, toss it. We're all just here to have fun and make death a little less heavy, man. We also included some blanks if you want to add other dumb ways to die.
